MICHAEL HUNT IS BACK FROM LONG TOUR OF EUROPE

Michael S. Hunt, formerly a citizen of Corsicana and son-in-law of Mrs. N. J. Garitty, but now a resident of Waco, has returned from a three and one-half months' tour of Europe. Mr. Hunt left Galveston May 30, and returned here Friday.

While gone he toured Ireland, England, Wales and France, making overland trips in his automobile, which he took with him. The total distance traveled since he left America was 18,000 miles, 13,000 by boat and 5,000 by automobile. He also made a stop in Havana.

Mr. Hunt, a native of Ireland, is in his home in Corsicana, where he has three brothers and three sisters living. His parents being dead, he attended the Bucharest Congress in Dublin, Ireland, in 1928.

One of the interesting events of his trip was a visit with Eamon De Valera, the new president of Ireland, a letter to this personage from Senator Tom Connally of Texas, a friend of the president, giving him the proper introduction. Mr. Hunt stated that from the conversation he had with President De Valera, he learned that Ireland will hold out for full freedom from the rule or allegiance to England.

Speaking of economic conditions the traveler said that to him the countries he visited all seemed to be in a much better financial condition than the United States. Ireland especially being prosperous. He said that in Dublin, a city of some 500,000, he did not see a single vacant building or an unemployed person who wanted work.

COUNTY TAXPAYERS WILL PAY LESS FOR GOVERNMENT COST

TAX RATE PLACED AT 44 CENTS AS AGAINST 50 CENTS LAST YEAR

The budget for Navarro county expenditures and the tax rate was set by the Navarro county commissioners court Friday afternoon showing a considerable reduction in expenses for the operation of the county for the ensuing year. The county tax rate was finally added at 44 cents.

The budget prepared by Clay Nash, county judge, and J. M. Tullios, county auditor, was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Tullios, county auditor, was authorized to transfer $10,000 from the road and bridge fund to the permanent improvement fund. All voted for the measure except Commissioner J. S. Sessions who registered a negative vote.

A motion was made by Commissioner D. D. Sawyer, seconded by Commissioner George W. Boyd, authorizing County Auditor J. M. Tullios to transfer $10,000 from the permanent improvement fund to the general fund carried with Commissioner Sessions voting "no."

The general fund rate was placed at 25 cents, a reduction in the aggregate of six cents, the tax rate in Consolidated road district No. 1 last year was $1.00, and the rate for the county at 69 cents, the county state and road district rates on $100 valuation a year will be $1.73.

The county rate last year was 50 cents, including the 1-cent road and bridge levy. The 10-cent road and bridge special tax was voted Oct. 3 by a county-wide election. The 1-cent permanent improvement fund levy was discontinued and was added to the jury rate, increasing the jury from 4 to 5 cents. The general fund rate was increased from 20 to 25 cents and the road and bridge levy of 13-1-2 cents was not changed. The road and bridge interest and sinking fund was reduced from 1-1-2 cents to 1-2 cent, making a total increase of 4 cents on the county rate. However, the 4-cent increase is more than offset by the 25 per cent reduction in road and bridge interest and sinking fund.

State Rate Out 5 Cents.

The state rate is 69 cents this year, as compared with 74 cents last year, a reduction of 5 cents in that rate, not including the 25 per cent saving to Navarro county tax-payers on the state portion by the wholesale 25 per cent reduction in road and bridge.

The levy for Consolidated road district No. 1 last year was $1.00 on $100 valuation and this year it will be 60 cents, plus 25 per cent in values.

For example: Consolidated road district No. 1 last year paid $2.24 on $100 valuation for county, state and road taxes. This year the rate on $100 is 44 for the county, 69 for the state and 60 for roads $1.73.

However, the property taxed on valuation of $100 last year is rendered for $75 this year—or $12.75 a saving of $4.14—cents on $2.24 last year—approximately 40 per cent.

The above figures do not include any levies on properties in school districts or levee districts.

The budget adopted by the commissioners Friday provides for an expenditure of $179,090 for the general, jury and road and bridge funds for the fiscal year from Aug. 1, 1932 to July 31, 1933, divided as follows: General fund, $64,740; jury fund, $10,150; and road and bridge fund, $104,200.

These three divisions of the county total $179,090, as compared with $181,132, a decrease in expenditures under the budget of $2,042.

The budget calls for $180,440 revenue as follows, based on what the county officials believe will be received: General fund, $68,000; jury fund, $10,150; and road and bridge, $104,200.

Estimated receipts as follows: General fund, $67,950; jury, $10,150; and road and bridge, $104,200. Last year's receipts were: general, $62,570; jury, $10,226.49; and road and bridge, $108,194.10.

In the expected $87,950 revenues, it is thought the following will be secured:

Taxes, $58,250; fines and trial fees, $4,000; excise fees, $4,000; collected fees, $5,000; interest, $2,000; other miscellaneous items, $3,000.

Funds for juries provide for the following income:

Taxes, $10,000; jury fees, $130; interest, $200.

Estimated revenue for the road and bridge fund:

Taxes, $33,700; auto registrations, $65,000; interest, $500; other miscellaneous items, $5,000.

HIGHWAY BONDS IN NAVARRO COUNTY TO BE PAID BY STATE

LOCAL TAXPAYERS TO BENEFIT TO EXTENT OF ABOUT $1,500,000 IN BONDS

Navarro county taxpayers will have between $1,250,000 and $1,500,000 outstanding road district bonds taken over for payment by the State of Texas under the provisions of the law passed by the Texas legislature in the special session now under way, county officials intimated Saturday morning.

Under the provisions of this law all outstanding bonds spent, except those spent on right-of-ways, on highways will be taken over and assumed by the state. A. F. Mitchell, county engineer, said it is not known whether the bonds to be taken over in Consolidated road district No. 1 will amount to $1,200,000. The bonds in Rice road district will approximate $20,000 and those in the Pursley district will approximate $43,000.

Mr. Mitchell and J. M. Tullios, county auditor, estimate there are approximately $1,500,000 outstanding bonds in the old districts at Barry, Blooming Grove, Dawson, Frost, and Kerens which were spent on state highways in construction of grave roads, and records of the expenditure of the money in those old districts are sufficiently clear relative to where the money was spent to enable county officials to prove up the amount of money spent on the highways. County officials have begun the work of looking into the records to see if relief can be secured for the old districts.

SAM MCKORKLE HAS RESIGNED HIS POST
DISTRICT ATTORNEY

TERM ENDS BY LEGISLATIVE ACT JANUARY 1933; WILL REPRESENT STERLING

DALLAS, Sept. 17.—(P)—Sam McKorkle announced here today that he had tendered his resignation as district attorney of the 77th judicial district to Gov. R. S. Sterling.

"I have just wired Gov. Sterling tendering my resignation as district attorney of the 77th judicial district of Texas. I have taken this action in view of the fact that the greater part of my time during the next few weeks will be occupied as attorney representing Gov. Ross Sterling in the contest suit filed against Mrs. Ferguson and others."

"I feel that in doing so I am answering the clear call of duty. I am so constituted that I have been unable to turn a deaf ear to that call."

"My action is further influenced by the fact that for a number of months in the past criminal business within the 77th judicial district has been reduced to such a minimum that the criminal acts in that court are especially light."

"Further than this, the legislature of Texas, acting upon my oral recommendation, has abolished the office of district attorney of the 77th judicial district court, effective the first of January, 1933, and am persuaded that if the legislature were fully acquainted with the existing facts and conditions they would abolish the entire court of the 77th judicial district. In view of the fact, too, that we have another district court in Limestone and Freestone counties, which is functioning actively at this time."

Cotton Receipts At Kerens; Fall Gardens For Winter Canning

KERENS, Sept. 17.—(Spl.)—Cotton receipts here at the three yards were over the 6,000 bale mark up to Thursday night. The gin are running later than usual since the recent rains and cotton picking has advanced to 50 cents per 100 pounds.

A large amount of cotton being received here now is pulled cotton, something unusual for this time of the year. Farmers report cotton hard to pick since the recent rains.

Fall gardens of all kinds are up and looking fine since the rains. It is the general opinion that if frost don't come in any earlier than in recent years, a large supply of winter truck will be canned this winter. Merchants say they have been asked about their supply of cans for the winter and are laying in a supply for winter canning.

A large number of yearlings are now being fed by farmers to be put up when winter sets in.

COMPLAINTS WERE FILED ALLEGING STORE BURGLARY

Several complaints were filed before Judge Sam B. Jordan Monday morning by Detective Chief Bruce Nutt of the city police department as a result of investigations conducted by the city officers into the recent burglary of the Navarro Wholesale Grocery company in which a quantity of cigarettes were allegedly taken.

The Navarro Wholesale Grocery company was burglarized Sept. 18, Tommy Bryant was arrested Friday and charged with burglary by city officers and John McCullon was arrested Thursday night by City Officer Allen York at the wholesale house. He has been charged with burglary carrying a pistol, city officers said.

Gertha Martin, Jack Crowder, and another man not arrested early Monday have been charged with receiving and concealing stolen property, officers reported, and Gertha Martin has been charged with receiving and disposing of stolen property.

Parry and Henry Franklin have been charged with theft in connection with the alleged theft of several cartons of cigarettes from those said to have entered the wholesale house, it was stated by officers.

Police Chief Will S. Knight, Nutt, and Officers Tickle, Griffin and York have been working on the case.

Seven Arrested In Recent Thefts

Seven men have been arrested in connection with recent cigarette thefts in Corsicana, Chief of Police Will S. Knight reported Monday, including four negroes and three white men, and others are being sought.

One negro is still being held in the city jail in connection with the burglary of the A. & P. store on August 20 in which about 20 cartons of cigarettes were stolen.

Two white men have been arrested on charges of burglary and theft, and one also is charged with carrying a pistol in connection with the burglary of the Navarro Wholesale Grocery Company last week. One of the men was arrested immediately after the burglary by Patrolman York.

Another white man is under arrest for buying stolen goods, one negro is charged with theft over $50, and two are charged with disposing of stolen property.

According to statements made by one of the negroes, the noise made by the stolen cigarettes being pushed from the roof of the wholesale house was heard by the negro, who watched the white men hide the loot and about 20 cartons of cigarettes being later called in others to assist him in disposing of them.

City officers said Monday that other arrests were expected soon in the two cases.

OFFER OF TRUCE MADE BY BOLIVIA GRAN CHACO FEUD

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 19.—(P)—An offer of a truce in the fighting between Bolivia and Paraguay in the Chaco region was made by the Bolivian government to the neutral nations today on condition Paraguay agree to it.

Bolivia offered to cease hostilities immediately, the note to the neutrals said.

The Bolivians claimed gains against the Paraguayans at Fort Boqueron, where a fierce battle has been going on ten days. An official communique said the circle around the fort which Paraguayan headquarters announced they had completed Saturday was broken yesterday by a charge of Bolivian infantry and cavalry.

The note to the neutral nations, signed by Foreign Minister Julio Gutierrez, said that regarding securities for non-aggression in the event of a truce, the Bolivian government was confident once an agreement was made it would be completed with loyalty. It recommended a civil commission of neutrals, however, to pass on alleged acts of aggression and to determine the aggressor.

Legislature

stand solidly for the house amendment.

Quick Action Necessary.
Representative Young, told the house that quick action on the bill was necessary, since it was corrective of one passed earlier in the session that went further in remitting tax penalties than was intended.

The bill was designed to remit interest and penalties on state, county and district taxes but as passed it included other forms of taxes due to the state.

Young said under the original bill $1,732,000 in gross receipts taxes, due Sept. 31, would not become delinquent until December 31, and that the state "sorely needed" that revenue when it was due.

Adjournment Date Is Still Undecided

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—(P)—The Texas legislature had completed most of its major business today and the senate was ready to end the special session but the house wanted to remain until Wednesday night.

Of the proposals originally submitted by Governor R. S. Sterling, all except one delinquent tax penalty remission, had been approved finally. A delinquent tax remission law had been enacted, but some attorneys believed that the legislature did not intend to include and the lawmakers were asked to enact a new statute. The two houses were asked to adjust differences in a new bill.

The present political uncertainty motivated certain house members in desiring to prolong the session a few days. They wanted to see whether Governor Sterling would press his court contest of the Democratic nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for governor. They expected Governor Sterling's attorneys to file the amended pleadings before Friday if at all.

McGregor Active.
Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin, a supporter of Mrs. Ferguson, told the house Saturday that "no one can tell what developments might take place within the next few days."

"If by staying in session a few more days the legislature can preserve the peace and protect the dignity and name of the state it will be time well spent," McGregor continued.

Reports were current that in the event Governor Sterling should go ahead with his suit, those opposed to that action might seek approval of a counter-proposal to bring a legislative investigation of possible law violations in connection with the furtherance of Governor Sterling's candidacy.

The senate wanted to quit Saturday night and Governor Sterling said he "assured" that the legislature would finish its work by that time. The house, however, would not agree. The senate then voted to adjourn tonight but the house amended the date to Wednesday night. A conference committee possibly will decide the question.

Legislature Works Slowly.
When Governor Sterling convened the lawmakers Aug. 30, he expressed belief they could pass the tax relief bills in a week or two weeks at most. However, several additional subjects were submitted and the end of the third week found some of them pending.

The difference between the two branches on the delinquent tax remission bill was whether to require release of penalties and interest on delinquent city taxes. The house wanted to force cities to adopt the plan, while the senate believed the matter should be left optional. The bill would direct the remission of penalties and interest on all delinquent state, county and district property and poll taxes said by Dec. 31.

Highway tax relief, the chief purpose for which the special session was called, was realized Saturday. Governor Sterling signed a bill providing for state assumption of county indebtedness on state highways.

Seek New Committee On Delinquent Tax

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—(P)—A free conference committee on the delinquent tax remission bill decided today to report to the Texas legislature that it was hopelessly deadlocked and asked for appointment of a new committee.

The conferees could not agree on the question of whether cities should be forced to remit penalties and interest on delinquent municipal taxes. A majority of the house committee wanted to require cities to take such action. The senate committee voted unanimously to leave the matter optional with municipalities.

The bill proposed to release interest on all delinquent state, county and district property and poll taxes said by Dec. 31. A law was enacted a few days ago but objection was raised on the grounds that the law included franchise, gasoline and all types of taxes whereas the legislative intent had been to include only property and poll taxes.

impression in official circles at Washington.

The British government, the note said, could not support the view that under a correct legal construction of the treaty of Versailles Germany is legally entitled to abrogate part 5 (which limited German armament) even though the other nations should fail to agree to disarm or to reduce their armament.

Still Binding.

"The object or reason (of part 5) the note said, "was to render possible initiation of a general limitation of armaments of all nations. To state what the object or aim of a stipulation is is a very different thing from making successful fulfillment of that object the condition of the stipulation."

"The correct position under the treaty of Versailles is that part 5 is still binding and can only cease to be binding, by agreement."

The government added, to this legal view, however, an acknowledgment that the limitation of German armament in the treaty was intended to be followed by general arms limitation by other powers.

The note concluded by recognizing that questions of status, involved considerations of national pride and dignity, which deeply touch the heart of a people, but insisted these should be disposed of "by friendly negotiation" which would not involve increased armament.

Germany Feels Note Unfriendly

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—(P)—A government spokesman took issue today with the "unfriendly form" of yesterday's British note opposing Germany's procedure in demanding arms equality.

"It goes without saying," he said, "that we can not accept the reasoning of the British memorandum, according to which Germany of her own accord and without compelling reason raised a political issue of vast implication. The unfriendly form which clothes the charge that we proceeded in a manner tactically wrong and calculated to disregard the harmony between nations does not establish the truthfulness of this charge."

"This is an old question which has long been recognized by the people of all foreign countries as urgent. The English note is in striking contrast to English public opinion. It was not Germany which, out of a clear sky, forced discussion of this question, but the negative character of the resolutions which came out of the disarmament conferences."

"Germany said nothing more than that complete and juridical equality of her armaments status must result from the disarmament conference."

"Since a positive result seems possible along the lines followed hitherto, Germany painted the way to a practical solution."

Committee could work out a compromise bill. The house inserted the provision making the plan mandatory on cities by only one vote.

Delinquent tax remission was the only proposal originally submitted by Governor R. S. Sterling which had not been passed. The lawmakers hoped to adjourn the special session tomorrow or Wednesday.

Storm

panied by rain, the barometer dropped 29.86 as compared with 29.96 last night.

A 30-mile wind was blowing at the mouth of the Mississippi river, with occasional gusts up to 34 miles.

Storm conditions developed on the Mississippi Gulf coast during the morning. The tide rose three feet at Gulfport at 10:30 a. m. as compared with a normal tide of six inches.

HOUSTON, Sept. 19.—(P)—Barometers at two points along the upper Texas coast, which had been rising as a Gulf coast storm first moving toward Texas, shifted and turned toward the Western Louisiana coast, dropped fractionally shortly before noon today.

The weather bureau here announced at 11:45 a. m., that the Houston barometer had dropped .01 to 29.81 since the last previous reading and that the Port Arthur reading was 29.77, .05 under the 7 a. m. reading.

"I don't think the drop means anything in Houston, except that we're just on the outer rim and are feeling some of the influences of the storm," said L. H. Daingerfield, head of the bureau.

"The drop in Port Arthur indicates the storm is approaching closer to that point previously had said there was no reason for concern in this area, after the receipt of Washington advices that the storm's course had changed toward the Western Louisiana coast. The storm still was moving toward that section at noon, so far as was known."

HOUSTON, Sept. 19.—(P)—

The Gulf storm which was moving on the upper Texas coast early this morning was reported in weather bureau advices at 8:30 a. m., to have shifted and pointed toward the Louisiana coast.

L. H. Daingerfield, chief meteorologist here, said there no longer was cause for concern in this section.

The storm, which first was noted late last week north of Tampico, Mexico, had been reported by the weather bureau last night as likely to strike this afternoon or tonight somewhere along the coast east of Matamoros Bay, which is about 100 miles down the coast to the southwest from Houston.

Today's advices from the bureau lowered the ordered storm warnings along the Louisiana coast and ordered them lowered from west of Galveston to Corpus Christi. The advisory said the center of the storm likely would pass inland over the Louisiana coast this afternoon attended by strong shifting winds probably reaching gale force.

Meanwhile, Freeport, which, due to its location, likely would have been in the path of the storm had it continued its course of last night, reported a rising barometer, corroborative of the Washington advice that the storm had shifted. Shortly before 9 a. m. the barometric reading at Freeport, center of the hardest hit area in the Aug. 13 hurricane over the Texas coast which took 50 lives, was 29.81, up .08 since 3 a. m. The weather there was described as good.

Nevertheless, the Freeport Sulphur company and other sources reported the town at least 50 per cent evacuated. Frightened residents began to leave last night. The sulphur company had stood prepared to completely evacuate the area by use of a special train today, but weather conditions and the shift in the direction of the storm were considered to have made the action no longer necessary.

Barometric Readings.
Bay City, in the Matagorda Bay region, also reported a rising barometer. The reading there at 8:30 a. m. was 29.82, .01 up since 6:30 a. m. At Matagorda, the barometer fell to as low as 29.74, but later was reported rising. A reading of about 29.96 is considered normal in this section.

Houston had a reading of 29.83 at 9 a. m. up .02 since 7 a. m. Port Arthur reported the barometer standing at 29.82, .02 above the 7 a. m. reading.

Galveston advices said a thunder squall had brought 1.96 inches of rain there, accompanied by a wind of 35 miles an hour velocity. The last reading there available here at 8 a. m., when the barometer stood at 29.80. It was considered certain that the barometer also was rising there.

HOUSTON, Sept. 19.—(P)—The upper Texas coast lay early today in the path of a tropical storm of unknown intensity sweeping in from the Gulf of Mexico.

The storm, described by the weather bureau here as probably of wide extent, was expected by the bureau to strike somewhere east of Matagorda Bay, which is some 100 miles down the coastline roughly in a southwesterly direction from Houston, this afternoon or tonight. Storm warnings were hoisted last night from Port Arthur to Corpus Christi.

Preparations to evacuate the lowlands in some areas had been made this morning and campers had been called in from beaches. Just a month and six days ago today a hurricane roared inland from the Gulf over a wide area of the state, striking the region around Freeport, about 70 miles southwest of here, was the hardest hit. Residents there were quick to leave the lawlands as warnings were hoisted last night.

Approaching, coast guardsmen said. Choppy, rough seas and falling barometers heralded the storm along the coast last night. At Port Arthur, traffic over Don Patricio causeway near there was halted as the tide rose. Galveston reported campers had been warned to leave the beaches.

Galveston Awaits Blow.

GALVESTON, Sept. 19.—(P)—Partly overcast skies, with lowering rain clouds, greeted Galveston this morning as the island city awaited further advice of a reported gulf storm.

A heavy rainfall occurred during the night following brisk showers yesterday. This morning the Gulf was rough with a three-foot tide. A moderate northeasterly breeze prevailed. The barometer reading at 7 a. m. was 29.80.

Louisiana Warning.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(P)—The weather bureau today issued the following storm warning:

"Advisory 9:30 a. m. Southeast storm warnings ordered Louisiana coast disturbance apparently central about one hundred twenty five miles southeast of Galveston moving northeastward. Its center will pass inland over Louisiana coast most likely near or west of Morgan City this afternoon attended by strong shifting winds probably reaching gale force. Warnings down ten a. m. west of Galveston to Corpus Christi."

Rain at Morgan City.

MORGAN CITY, La., Sept. 19.—(P)—A 36-hour rain continued to fall today and the barometer dropped sharply as weather bureau advices indicated the Gulf storm was heading toward this South Louisiana city.

At 9:30 a. m., the barometer reading was 29.73 as compared with 29.80 at 7 p. m. Owners of small craft took precautions in anticipation of the blow.

Attention Storm Warning.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(P)—The weather bureau today issued at the stock yards were boosted by the beginning of rail shipment from ranches of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, and western South Dakota. Total receipts early today were 10,000 cattle and calves, 7,000 hogs, mostly from Nebraska and Iowa, and 4,500 sheep.

Farm Strike

SIOUX CITY, Sept. 18.—(P)—A "revolt" against selling of live stock and grain in all agricultural states of the midwest today became the objective of leaders of the Iowa-born farm "war" for higher prices.

The order, calling on agriculturalists to withhold their live stock and grain until they receive prices equal to production costs, is to go into effect next Wednesday, but picketing is to be frowned upon by leaders of the movement.

After spending weeks laying the groundwork for the non-selling campaign, officers of the National Farmers' Holiday Association here last night decided the time was ripe for extending the strike into states beyond the borders of Iowa. Heretofore the movement has been the following storm warning: "Advisory: Warning down 2 p. m. Texas coast. Gulf disturbance central noon about 75 miles southwest of Morgan City, La., moving north-northwestward. Center will pass inland short distance west of Morgan City this afternoon."

Orange Barometer Falling.

ORANGE, Sept. 19.—(P)—The barometer at Orange, close to the Texas-Louisiana boundary, this morning read 29.80, and was dropping slowly.

"Do you know," she said, "I have not been able to speak to him since he left from Washington, abandoning plans for the democratic nomination. His mother had said to live until she could win the vice presidency, the party's convention at nominated him. Garner was born in a log cabin a few miles away from his father's present home here. ROBBIE BURNS' WAY

When Robert Burns went round
On mantel piece or chimney wall,
In lieu of gold he lived without,
Some gem of poetry he'd scrawl.
To homes which sheltered him he gave A touch of beauty all might crave.

Despised at times by men of power,
And scorned by bigots, over-good,
He found God's love in every flower.
And told of it when'er he could.
He never quit a friendly door,
But left it richer than before.

A minister, as poor as he,
Once made him welcome for the night.
And found next morning, for his fee,
A prayer that only Burns could write:
A poem, never to grow old,
Purer and lovelier than gold.
Sometimes in bitterness he penned Against the shams of pomp and pride,
But where'er he found a friend
He left what fortune can't provide;
Immortal beauty and a joy
Past Time's harsh changes to destroy.

YOUTHFUL TRAMPS.

America, shocked by stories of roving bands of homeless boys in Russia since the war and revolution and, more recently, of another roving army of jobless youths in the British Isles, now has similar worries of her own. It is conservatively estimated that 300,000 youths from 12 to 20 years of age have become wanderers in the United States as a result of the depression.

These boys are not all orphans, neither are they lazy, excessively adventurous or criminally inclined.
They have become tramps
because of unemployment, broken homes, reduced family incomes and an unwillingness to remain burdens to their families.

Here is one of the major problems of the depression, and the one most neglected. Hundreds of young men are being killed or crippled stealing rides on freight trains. Exposure during the winter months has permanently impaired
the health of many others, while few, if any, will come through with character unscathed. From this random sowing the country will reap a harvest of criminals, cripples, misfits and bums.

Awake at last to the gravity of the situation the country is planning to undertake a publicity campaign designed to discourage young men from leaving home until they have some guarantee of employment. No pleasant picture is to be painted, for if ever the way of the wanderer was hard it is harder today.
Conditions at home cannot be so bad that life away from home cannot make them worse.

AN OLD HABIT.

As increasing number of critics of the present generation are putting it, America, along with the rest of the world, is on the decline, slipping from old virtues into new vices. The tendency to compare the present unfavorably with the past is an old one.

Doubtless some years hence men now young will be proclaiming the superior virtues of this day and comparing the men present unfavorably with the time of their youth. Therefore the world does not take such criticism seriously. For it knows that as a rule one generation is little, if any, better or worse than the one preceding or following.

The federal government sent an expert to Chambersburg, Pa., to plan for an addition to the postoffice but he discovered, to his chagrin, that the addition was built a year ago. Reading this kind of news is what makes contented taxpayers.

Three months have elapsed since the Republican national convention but in 300 years there will not be another exhibition of optimism to compare with that of ex-Senator France, who tried to stampede a jobholders' reunion.

"Goodbye Jim, Take Keer Yourself" ---By Clive Weed

MODEST MEYER.

The man whose efforts have been largely responsible for the course chartered by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and who heads the Federal Reserve Board remains today almost as hazy a figure to the American people as the governor of the "old lady of Threadneedle Street"— the mystic head of the Bank of England, Montagu Norman.

Certainly, no one is playing a larger part in the government's fight against depression than Eugene Meyer, Jr. And if that fight is waged to a successful finish much of the credit must go to him. His banking genius is the heavy artillery in this war.

Comparatively little is known about him, although since President Wilson appointed him a member of the advisory committee of the Council of National Defense 15 years ago he has been an important figure in National affairs. Few men in public life have so succeeded in effacing themselves; few have been so content to do their jobs and rest satisfied with that.

He began work as a banker and has devoted his life to the study of finance and industrial organization.
He was director of the War
Finance Corporation under President Wilson. Coolidge drafted him to direct the Farm Loan Board, whose affairs were then in rank disorder. After a short vacation in 1929 he was made governor of the Federal Reserve Board by President Hoover, an appointment the senate confirmed, although it failed to exact from the appointee a statement of his policies. And when the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was created he was the logical choice for chairman.

The Great Engineer, or Great Promoter, or whatever he is, just suits Cal Coolidge, who said in 1928 who would keep right on becoming more and more prosperous.

Washington police have been told to run down a bureau employe who has dropped from sight. Heel-marks on a desk are the only tracks so far uncovered.

New York thieves who stole a police radio car are assumed to be out combing the highways for themselves, in response to the police broadcast.

To aim high is commendable, but some folks aim higher than their guns can carry.

A MISMANAGED DE-PARTMENT.

Early reports of the effect of 3-cent letter mail indicate that the postoffice department's estimates of increased revenue are going to prove far too high.

Arthur C. Lueders, postmaster of Chicago, says
while the Chicago postoffice handled 2,800,000 letters a day in July and August last year, the average since the 3-cent rate went into effect has been 2,000,000 letters. First-class postage is now bringing $60,000 to Chicago instead of $56,000. If that condition is general throughout the country—and it probably applies to all business communities—then first-class postal revenue have not been boosted 50 per cent, or even 30 per cent, but 7 per cent.

There has been some increase in third-class mail, however, due to the fact that business concerns in particular are sending circulars unsealed which they formerly sent first-class.
The fall business campaign will show whether there is to be a still greater desertion of the first-class category by business houses.
The old letter rate was two cents an ounce; the new one is three cents an ounce.
That means a considerable saving of money for business house campaigns—a savings even from the old letter rate. Postal officials question whether third-class mail gets the same attention from the recipient as first-class mail, but the fact is that a lot of advertising sent first-class is thrown away as soon as the addressee finds out what it is.

Postal rates made by congress are bound to be unscientific, and based on guesswork. A self-determining postoffice could figure out what rates are most lucrative under the best conditions of service. But as long as the postoffice remains political, congress will continue to experiment with rates, and be defeated by popular common sense.

The public is mailing fewer and fewer letters and writing fewer and fewer checks, to the mortification of scheming parasites at the federal trough.

Hoover, who promised two cars for every garage, now says it's lucky the garage is still there, and he's right for once.

The Neck Needs Lots of Cream.

Mrs. E. G.—The only way you can darken your hair, that has been badly bleached, is to dye it, but a far better way is to cut off all that you can spare and wait for the natural coloring to come into the shortening hair. If you dyed it, you could not have the natural color without clipping and waiting for nature to restore it to you, so why not do that this time? Henna shampoos give a coppery tint to pale brown hair that makes the hair appear to be much more vital than it is naturally. Henna is not a dye, so you have that advantage in using it. To get a golden shade you have to use a bleach. Betty—the exercise from swimming will help develop your thighs. Tomorrow—An Anti-Acid Diet.

IN SPEECH TODAYVICE PRESIDENT OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN IN PENNSYLVANIA SATURDAY

FOGELSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Establishment of the National Co-operative system for farm marketing to reduce the price spread between producer and consumer was proposed today by Vice President Curtis.

In his opening campaign speech here at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Republican drive, Curtis, in his prepared address, devoted himself almost entirely to agriculture and the tariff.

Twice he referred to Governor Roosevelt's farm speech in Curtis' home town—Topeka, Kansas. The vice president closed with the statement:

"In the gradual revival of business throughout the country is the best evidence that confidence is gradually being restored. This is due to the splendid work and ability of our president, Herbert Hoover."

After making his own proposal for a national co-operative system, Curtis said:

"I have commented upon Governor Roosevelt's farm relief plan because he has submitted none—he refers to several plans that have been discussed for years and then leaves them for further discussion."

Curtis outlined his own plan in these words:

"While this problem (agriculture) has not been and should not be partitioned, the Republican party wishes to solve it and is anxious to bring the farmer into a situation of equality with industry. One of the problems is to reduce the spread between the producer on the farm and the consumer who pays for such products. Another is to provide the farmers better marketing facilities."

National Co-Operative. "I have for years believed a national co-operative system could help solve the problem. I still believe such a system properly organized and conducted would enable the farmer to get at the same time no injury to those who deal with the product, a better price for his products and buying and selling of farm products, while protecting the farmer against those who will not give him a square deal."

Curtis' second reference to Roosevelt quoted him as saying in the Topeka speech that "the Fordney-McCumber tariff barrier stood off the normal tide of trade."

"I judge that the tariff took this statement from the report of the Democratic minority on the tariff act of 1922," Curtis said, "or from the speech of Senator Swanson made during the consideration of the bill because they both predicted that the act would injure our foreign trade, but these predictions did not come true."

"What are the facts? The last year of the Underwood bill our exports amounted to $3,600,000,000; our imports to $3,600,000,000; our exports for the year ending June 30, 1929, under the 1922 act amounted to $3,600,000,000."

"Our imports for the last year of the Underwood act amounted to $3,600,000,000; our exports to $3,600,000,000; our exports for the year ending June 30, 1929, amounted to $3,600,000,000."

"So you see the governor is mistaken about the effect of the McCumber act on our foreign trade."

Curtis said that "through the prompt action of the president of the United States and with the hearty support of the people, and business interest of the country, the financial disaster which the British departure from the gold standard had been averted."

Continuing with his discussion of Republican tariff enactments and comparing them with the Democratic Underwood-Simmons law, Curtis said:

"In tariff legislation the farm organizations have insisted that agriculture be put on a par with other industries. This was attempted in the act of 1930 as it is shown by the following:

"The increase in tariff are largely directed toward the farmer. Of the increases, it is stated by the tariff commission that 87.75 per cent are upon products of agricultural origin measured in value and 62.5 per cent upon commodities of strictly non-agricultural origin."

"The average rate upon agricultural raw materials shows an increase from 38.10 per cent to 48.92 per cent in contrast to dutiable articles of strictly other than agricultural origin, which shows an average increase from 31.02 per cent to 34.31 per cent."

"Out of 31 leading products of agriculture our Democratic friends fixed a duty on only eight of them and left the others on the free list, while Republicans in the act of 1930 placed a duty on each and every one of the 31 products."

BIENNIAL STRUGGLE FOR LEADERSHIP OF WISCONSIN
REPUBLICANS NEXT TUESDAY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 17.—(AP)—The biennial struggle between two factions of Republicans for control of the state administration goes to a decision of the voters in Wisconsin primary next Tuesday with the political leadership of the LaFollette brothers—Gov. Phil and Senator Bob—hinging on the outcome.

Gov. LaFollette is a candidate for re-election, and he seeks the Republican nomination. Opposing him is former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, who has led the fight of Republicans supporting the national administration to wrest control of the state from the LaFollette faction.

Gov. LaFollette, aided by his older brother, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, and the latter's colleagues, Senator John J. Blaine, has stumped the state throughout the summer, calling upon the voters to retain in office Progressives. The governor has charged the Republican party is "the soulless tool of the money trust," while Senator Blaine has suggested that President Hoover be impeached for his attitude toward bonus-seeking war veterans.

Senator Blaine is seeking re-election for a second term. He defeated Senator Irvine Lenroot and has as his opponent John B. Chapple, editor of the Ashland Daily Press. Chapple is supporting President Hoover and Kohler.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Fresh expressions of Speaker John C. Cannon's desire for a New Congress Democratic victory, today found his Republican opponent, Vice President Curtis, opening his campaign for re-election in Pennsylvania.

He traveled to Fogelsville to make his first 1932 speech for the Hoover-Curtis ticket, preparatory to taking the stump next week.

Garner, after conferring with Gov. Roosevelt in Kansas, was on his way to Texas to be with his sick mother.

Before leaving, the Texan issued a formal statement in which he said "The administration's assumption of credit for all relief measures passed by the last Congress is amazing and preposterous. Democratic victory at the polls by 10,000,000 if the swing which has set in continues."

Garner's statement was given over yesterday at his capital office. At the other end of Pennsylvania avenue, meanwhile President Hoover conferred with a number of political callers, but the White House declined to say whether Mr. Hoover will be in Chicago for the Democratic victory at the polls by 10,000,000 if the swing which has set in continues."

One of the president's visitors was Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee. He said that the Democratic victory in Maine had increased campaign contributions to a point where the goal of $1,500,000 was in sight.

"The president that I felt pretty good over the Maine elections, anyhow," Nutt told newspapers.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Immediate payment of the bonus and prohibition repeal were overwhelmingly demanded by the American Legion in its 14th annual convention.

The 1,200 delegates voted to take one for full adjustment of the bonus less than 24 hours after President Hoover had declared the bonus would be paid.

The delegates also voted to support a resolution which would permit naturalization of aliens without taking an oath of willingness to bear arms in defense of the United States.

A resolution which the Pennsylvania delegation had hoped to present to the convention, calling for censure of President Hoover because of his attitude toward the bonus marchers from Washington, D. C., was killed in committee, dying for want of a second.

William, the new commander, will be assisted by vice commanders from the five districts—Charles A. Mills of Florida, John Maloney of Maine, W. H. Eastwood of Texas, and Russell Meadows of Nebraska and Russell Meadows of Arizona. The Rev. Irving Wood of Pocatello, Ida., was chosen as national chaplain.

Former Circus Head
Dies Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Walter T. McGinley, 62, oil man and former circus executive died here of a heart attack yesterday.

This year there is a new note in Wisconsin politics. It comes from the Democratic party. Not since 1896, when George W. Peck wrote stories about "Peck's Bad Boy" in the executive mansion at Madison, has there been a Democratic governor of Wisconsin. Three candidates actually are fighting for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Heretofore, the Democratic campaign for the nomination, never more than one seriously so Democratic in other years voted in the Republican primary.

This year they must vote for their own. The Republican factions may lose just as many votes, and just what the Democratic desertion will mean to the Republican contest is one of the big questions to be answered.

The battle within the Republican ranks is along familiar lines, with Phil LaFollette, who won the Republican nomination for governor two years ago, demanding another term on his record which has been attacked by his opponent, a nationally known manufacturer.

The greatest division between the two factions has been indicated by their attitude toward taxation. LaFollette, calling to mind the farmer's tax burden, proposes to shift taxes to "those best able to pay." Kohler has countered with the charge that LaFollette tax policies are driving industries from the state.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(AP)—"As I interpret it people want to maintain the present administration and are coming forward with their money to help."

"Many of our largest contributors now are people who didn't give us a cent in 1928. I'll tell you, $1,500,000 or more."

Another White House caller was Senator Hastings of Delaware, assistant manager of the Eastern campaign. He remarked, with a smile, that he was "glad to see Senator Borah has entered the campaign," referring to a statement by the Idahoan against cashing the soldiers' bonus. Mr. Hoover has opposed the bonus payment.

This report that he had entered the campaign in President Hoover's behalf brought from Borah at Idaho home, the reply: "I knew Senator Hastings had a great many accomplishments, but I didn't know he was a humorist."

Garner's statement said that "Republican leaders throughout the country are in a state of panic."

"There is plain evidence here in Washington," he said, "that the condition of extreme uncertainty and apprehension over the outcome of the election in November extends to the White House itself."

"The administration's assumption of credit for all relief measures passed by the last Congress is amazing in view of the fact that the country was not a relief measure passed by the last Congress."

Had Three Homes.

DuBois and his wife were considered well-to-do. They had homes in Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Braintree, Mass., as well as a summer cottage at New York City. A few days ago investigators found the record of a deed in which the Braintree property was transferred from Mrs. Edith DuBois (the slain woman) to "Nance DuBois, New York" with the consent of Charles DuBois.

DuBois' attorney said he believed the man shot himself because of the publicity and the use of Miss Atwood's name.

Assistant District Attorney Sullivan said the state's inquiry was closed.

"The sole culprit is dead," he declared.

The book contains the democratic and republican platforms and the acceptance speeches of Governor Roosevelt and his running mate, Speaker John N. Garner. It contains also biographical sketches of the presidential and vice-presidential candidates and articles on "leading issues of the campaign."

The first chapter of the book, entitled "Freedom and Prosperity," is made up of quotations from President Hoover's 1928 campaign speeches and advertisements, contrasted with his public statements, succeeding Charles I. Frances of Wichita Falls.

NEW YORK JEWELER

RESULT FINDING WOMAN'S BODY AND MAN'S SUICIDE

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Charles DuBois, wealthy jeweler, dug his wife's basement tomb as she sat above and listened, unknowing its meaning.

She wrote to a friend, a Mrs. Gillett, that her husband was acting queerly, that in the cellar he had been digging and he was strangely silent when he came up.

It was in this basement grave that Mrs. DuBois' body was found last night after the jeweler committed suicide by shooting himself with the same caliber of bullet that ended the life of his wife.

Police said Mrs. DuBois also wrote to Mrs. Gillett that her husband was acting queerly, that in the cellar he had been digging and he was strangely silent when he came up.

DuBois was 39, one year younger than his wife. His home was in Tuckahoe, N. Y. The cottage was built by the jeweler and his wife, who had their summer residence.

After the body was placed in the concrete crypt, DuBois entertained at gay parties in a bottle-strewn room on the second floor. His wife, police said, was driving industries from the state.

DuBois, against whom the police had sought money, had no corpus delicti, killed himself in a Quincy rooming house. He had shaved off his smartly cut mustache and taken the name "Ralph Anderson."

Immediately Assistant District Attorney John V. Sullivan rushed ten men with pickaxes to the DuBois summer cottage near Waverly Pier, with orders to demolish it if necessary in the search. New construction there had aroused his suspicions.

A few words of a sledge laid open the funeral vault, a strong concrete box in the cellar. The body lay inside, wrapped in black cloth, a pillow underneath, a smile, that he was "glad to see Senator Borah has entered the campaign," referring to a statement by the Idahoan against cashing the soldiers' bonus. Mr. Hoover has opposed the bonus payment.

HOUSE RESOLUTION
FOR CONDEMNATION
OF HIGHWAY PATROLVIOLATION TRUCK INJUNCTION HOLD CAUSE FOR CENSURE BY COX

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—(AP)—While the chief of the state highway patrol and four of his officers were held by the Texas court, the house of the Texas legislature heard arguments on a resolution condemning the patrol for violation of court injunctions restricting enforcement of the load limit provisions of the state truck law.

L. G. Phares, patrol chief, and four officers who had made arrests for truck law violations in the vicinity of Houston, were arrested today on warrants from the district court of Tarrant county ordering them held until they purged themselves of contempt.

The attorney general's department obtained writs of habeas corpus shortly before noon from the supreme court ordering their release. Similar writs were granted Wednesday when Phares and others were cited for contempt by District Judge Fountain Kirby of Limestone county for violation of truck law injunctions issued in the vicinity of Houston. The writs have been set for Monday.

The resolution condemning the action of the state highway patrol in making arrests in violation of the injunctions introduced by Representative J. G. Cox of Paris. No action was taken on the resolution, it being ruled out on a point of order that the time for consideration of resolutions had expired.

The resolution cited that the actions of the highway patrol were subject to censure, stated that in the future the highway patrol should respect the mandates of the courts.

Representative Walter Back of Fort Worth criticized the actions of the attorney general's department in litigation involving the truck laws. He stated he had verified the charges against the department would open a case in court and then leave the rest of the trial to attorneys for the railroad, with states' attorneys reverting to the background.

He charged the attorney general was trying to obtain a narrow court construction of the truck laws.

Courts Criticized.

Action of the district courts in granting the injunctions was criticized by Representative Al Pettich of Fredericksburg. Pettich alleged that 90 per cent of the truck operators in the state are not residents of the district in which the court granted the injunctions. He asserted that some of the injunctions had been granted in February and had been set for hearing next January.

Beck retaliated with the charge that the highway patrol was making a "dirty deal" out of the court's injunctions.

"A government by injunction is better than a government by the damnable railroads," Representative J. C. Kelley retorted in a question addressed to Beck.

Dr. Koch, holder of the American National Geographic Society's expedition to young scientists and veteran Greenland explorers. They were accompanied by a cruise carrying a number of airplanes. Prince Knud, younger son of the king, was second in command of the cruiser.

Meanwhile, the states' attorney, John A. Swanson, said his staff had taken a "bird's-eye view" of the situation and was now beginning to dig into the investigation of a statement which had been made by one of the Insull investment houses.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19.—

Hearing was set for Oct. 18 after the court granted a motion to advance the case. Sid White, attorney for the oil company, said the application for an injunction sought to prevent the military from "taking over" the two Tulsa oil wells.

The two wells were closed by military order several weeks ago of alleged overproduction from secret connections.

Chinese Merchants
Start Boycott On Japanese Products

MANILA, Sept. 19.—(P)—Chinese merchants, who control three-quarters of the Philippine retail trade, have determined to boycott all Japanese goods in the Philippine Islands.

The boycott was declared yesterday at a mass meeting of 600 Chinese in observing "Humiliation Day," the anniversary of the Japanese Manchurian occupation.

Many of the islands' leading Chinese merchants attended.

A resolution declaring the boycott was adopted at the meeting, which Chinese Consul-General J. K. Wong, presided. Although a Chinese boycott against Japanese goods has been in effect here several months, before yesterday's meeting there had been little public discussion of it.

Laws will be observed in enforcing the boycott, the meeting declared.

PRIMARIES TUESDAY

NEW YORK, MASSACHUSETTS AND WISCONSIN HOLDING BALLOT BATTLES

(By The Associated Press.) Primary campaigns close today in New York, Massachusetts and Wisconsin and tomorrow's balloting will end most of the state intra-party contests for congressional and gubernatorial nominations.

In several districts of both the two eastern states prohibition figures prominently. Wisconsin's voting will mean the election of the LaFollette and anti-LaFollette wings of the republican party there.

With these three contests over, only the democratic and republican conventions in New York, party conclaves in Rhode Island and New Mexico, and a few run-off primaries remain before all candidates square off for the November election.

In Wisconsin, the LaFollette and Senator Blaine have waged a fight against former Governor Walter J. Kohler on taxation and other economic issues. Senator Blaine is seeking re-nomination against John B. Chapple, editor of Ashland, who charged him with radicalism.

There is no election of a senator from Massachusetts. In New York, the democratic convention is to decide whether Senator Robert F. Wagner shall be re-nominated.

Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman is strongly supported by Roosevelt friends for the gubernatorial nomination.

William H. Donovan, former assistant attorney general, and F. Trubee Davidson, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics, are the outstanding contenders for the republican gubernatorial nomination in New York.

Governor Joseph E. Ely, democrat, has no opposition for re-nomination in Massachusetts. Four republicans are seeking their party's support to C. Jose Ely.

HOUSE ADOPTED
RESOLUTION FOR OIL INVESTIGATION
APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO PROBE OIL INDUSTRY IS AUTHORIZED

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—(P)—The House of the Texas legislature today adopted a resolution authorizing appointment of a committee of three members to investigate conditions in the oil industry and state's oil and gas conservation statutes.

Offered by Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls, the resolution was adopted by 47.

In speaking for the resolution, Long stated that no one knew what was going to happen in the oil industry in the near future or what present and anticipated attacks on the conservation laws would have. Long said an injunction had been obtained restraining enforcement of a conservation order of the Texas railroad commission in the Yates field in West Texas and that a court attack on validity of the order limiting daily per well production in the Gulf Coast field was being made.

"Isn't it a fact that the Humble Oil and Refining company and its crowd are trying to break down the proration laws of this state?" Representative Gordon Burns of Huntsville asked Long.

"Yes," Long replied.

"Isn't it a further fact that Amos Beatty of the American Petroleum Institute issued a statement recently at Tulsa in which he said the Humble would not obey proration orders of the commission in East Texas?" Burns queried.

"Yes," answered Long.

Long asserted the state was vitally interested in upholding proration in the Yates field because of the large interests of the University of Texas and the public school fund in the oil lands in the state.

The resolution cited that it had been charged the conservation laws were not being adequately enforced and that the state's oil revenues were being grossly violated. It also cited that a break down in the states' conservation laws would be detrimental to the state since 50 per cent of the state's revenues were derived from taxes on the oil industry.

It also set out that independent gas producers in the panhandle and the line connections and that their lands were being drained. Long charged the pipeline companies were charging excessive rates for transporting oil and that independent operators were without sufficient protection since the federal court had declared unconstitutional laws affecting pipeline rates and requiring ratable takings.

Long said he believed the committee could offer the next session of the legislature constructive legislation that would bolster the conservation statutes.

The resolution authorized an appropriation of $750 to make the inquiry.

Highway Bill in Senate. A compromise highway bond assumption bill was reported to the senate by a free conference committee. The bill was placed on the table subject to call.

The senate adopted a resolution by J. W. Stevenson of Victoria during the anniversary of the Japanese Manchurian occupation. The resolution requested that study be given the question at the next session of the legislature with a view of enacting proper legislation or submitting a constitutional amendment. Copies of the resolution will be sent to governors of other states.

The senate passed a house bill to reduce tax collectors' bonds materially. An amendment would be willing to open its books to provide for weekly instead of monthly remittances of taxes to the county and state treasuries.

RECOVERY FROM ECONOMIC DEPRESSION TO COME ONLY
WHEN PEOPLE ARE EMPLOYED

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—Walter C. Teague, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, expressed belief today that the "steadiness of our advance out of the depression is dependent upon the employment" and the employment situation, he says may be met best by the "share-the-work-movement."

"I am one of those who believe," Teague told the fourth annual Boston conference of Retail Distributors, "that we are emerging from the depression, definitely and on a basis which gives promise of real stability." He is the national chairman of the "share-the-work-movement."

"We face the winter with at least 10,000,000 men and women out of work," he said. "Charity funds, both private and public, are increasingly difficult to raise. The tax powers of states and communities to raise funds for public improvements to make work for their unemployed is rapidly approaching an embarrassing point."

"I am sure we are all agreed that neither charity nor the state for that is what much of the 'made work' virtually amounts to—is any permanent or satisfactory solution of the unemployment problem, from the standpoint either of the community or the individual."

"We must get the men and women back into regular jobs of a nature to fit their training and temperaments, because there they work most effectively, and because only such a requirement holds promise of stability."

"To be sound, a movement must benefit all parties involved. The share-the-work-movement meets this requirement. It is to the advantage of the worker because he enjoys greater job security by job sharing, it is to the advantage of the employer because work-sharing will make for quick business recovery through wider spreading, and it is to the advantage of the community and the country at large because it will relieve the drain on community funds and tend to reduce the excessive taxes which have been piling up on us."

Teague said national spending power could be restored quickly only by two factors in the situation—"the employers who today have work to be done and the men and women who are working for them."

"The share-the-work-movement aims at just three objectives:—

"To check the upward trend of unemployment which has been reduced for seasonal or other reasons, by employing the greatest possible number of workers, thus avoiding adding to unemployment, and

"To decrease unemployment by a wide spreading of work now available among a larger group of employees working shorter periods rather than by employing a smaller group working longer periods."

"Whenever an increasing volume of business permits employing additional personnel, to do so by distributing the increased work in the greatest number rather than by working longer schedules."

"It means breaking with tradition," he said, "it will temporarily be inconvenient, and it will take educational work with the organization to sell the idea of shorter hours and reduced income."

"But the American business man has earned for himself the reputation of being a skillful adaptor of ideas."

York and Chicago, in total disregard of supply and demand, has arbitrarily fixed down the price of cotton $10 per bale."

House Asks Probe. AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—(P)—Proposed investigation of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association by the attorney general has been asked by the State house of representatives.

The house substituted its plan of inquiring into charges against the association for a senate arrangement whereby the investigation would have been made by the existing legislative committee on efficiency and organization.

Representative Fritz Engelhard of Eagle Lake told the house that should it authorize the attorney general's department to make the inquiry, the organization would be willing to open its books to the investigation, said a director in the organization, "said it was desired to have a legal inquiry and that one by the legislative committee would not be that sort."

Representative Lawrence Westbrook of Waco proponent of the investigation, said the co-operative had been mismanaged and charged large sums of money had been misappropriated.

He said the organization was "fleecing" Texas Farmers.

Hurt Flippin, Claremore deputy sheriff, died of his wounds in a Muskogee hospital, evening the score of those slain—three peace officers; three accused outlaws.

Two of three alleged killers, sought for the slaying Saturday of Deputy Sheriff Walter Reece, were shot to death by a posse of officers in heart of the rugged Cookson hills, known as a bandit retreat even in the days of the Cherokee republic. But Deputy Flippin and Andrew McGinnis, special Muskogee deputy sheriff, also lost their lives.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Sept. 18.—(P)—A trail of death and terror which claimed five lives in the last two days apparently was nearing its end in the rugged Cookson hills country of eastern Oklahoma today.

Two of three alleged killers, sought for the slaying Saturday of Deputy Sheriff Walter Reece, were shot to death by officers in the heart of the Cookson hills, 20 miles southeast of Tahlequah, late yesterday. But Andrew McGinnis, special deputy sheriff of Muskogee, was killed in the exchange of fire and Hurt Flippin, Claremore deputy sheriff, was wounded.

Ky Carlisle, 30, and Troy Lovc 24, sought as two of the four desperadoes who shot Reece to death and wounded a deputy sheriff when officers attempted to question them on a road near Tahlequah, were slain as they ran from 2, thickly armed, after exhausting their ammunition. Bud McGinnis, 27, a farmer, one of the gunmen, was fatally wounded in the exchange of gunfire Saturday.

Robert Trullinger, of Eldon, Okla., arrested at his home last yesterday and brought here for safe keeping, will be charged in Cherokee county. Sheriff V. S. Cannon said, as the fourth man in the Reece murder.

Pistols of officers and outlaws dealt death in the sparsely settled, hilly country as posses searched for six men, who on the night of Sept. 2, shot into a posse of Mrs. Susie Sharp of Bragg, 14 miles east of here, killing her and wounding her daughter.

Mrs. Pearl Anderson of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Anderson's five-year-old son. The same night the bandits held up two other persons and took their cars.

National guardsmen, bloodhounds and officers of all eastern Oklahoma counties were called into the manhunt after the slaying of Reece and McGinnis.
